

School Diversity Week: What is diversity?

What makes you who you are?

- There are lots of things that make up who we are:
 - Our family
 - Our friends
 - What we enjoy (food, games, toys, TV shows, films)
 - What we look like
 - The clothes we wear
 - The holidays we celebrate

We are all different

- Because there are so many things that make us who we are it means we are all different
- Everyone being different is called diversity
- Some people will still have things in common but most people will have some sort of difference between them
- When people have something in common they are part of the same community

An example of diversity

Finding community

- Community can be found in many places
- You might find community through finding friends who like the same things as you (both like the same TV show)
- Community can also come from places you visit, like school
- You might already be part of a community through your family or other people you know

Being kind

- Sometimes people are unkind to others because they are different from them
- This week is about being kind to people who are different
- Take time this week to understand more about the differences of people in your class
- What will you learn this week?

Support each other

- If you see someone being treated unkindly for being different:
 - Ask the person if they're okay
 - Ask the person if they would like to play with you or join your activity
 - Speak to an adult
- Stand up for and support others
